

Martial Arts Symposium

to benefit the International Brain Research Foundation

Soke Rudy Duncan, founder of Duncan's Martial Arts Academy in Syracuse, has announced a martial arts symposium to benefit the International Brain Research Foundation. This symposium will feature martial artists from around the area and Canada where students can come to learn from very talented instructors while "giving back" to the men and women of our armed forces. The event will help our brave soldiers who have sustained life-altering brain injuries while serving our country.

"This is a great opportunity for martial artists to show their support. Instructors from a wide variety of styles and disciplines will be on hand to share their knowledge and insight into martial arts practice and training. Our list of guest instructors come from styles such as Silat, Goju Ryu, Jeet Kune Do, Wing Chun, Hung Gar Kung Fu, Washin Ryu, Kemchido and more! The instructors participating in this event are very excited at this opportunity to not only share their knowledge but support our troops as well. We are very proud of the men and women in our country's armed forces. It is because of their efforts that we have the freedoms we do to hold an event like this. We encourage students, instructors, and school owners alike from around the area to participate. There is sure to be some great information for everyone to take away with them", says Soke Rudy Duncan.
